

~~John Dowland: Thinkst thou then by thy feigning~~
 John Dowland: Thinkst thou then by thy feigning

1.

Cantus
 Thinkst thou then by thy feig - ning, sleep with a proud dis - dai - ning, or with thy craf - ty clo - sing, thy cru - el eyes re -

Altus
 Thinkst thou then by thy feig - ning, sleep with a proud dis - dai - ning, or with thy craf - ty clo - sing, thy cru - el eyes

Tenor
 Thinkst thou then by thy feig - ning, sleep with a proud dis - dai - ning, or with thy craf - ty clo - sing, thy cru - el

Bassus
 Thinkst thou then by thy feig - ning, sleep with a proud dis - dai - ning, or with thy craf - ty clo - sing, thy cru - el eyes re -

5. 2.

po - - sing, to drive while me from thy sight, when sleep yields
 is, may not I

po - - sing, to drive while me from thy sight, when sleep yields
 is, may not I

eyes re - po - sing, to drive me from thy sight, when sleep yields while sleep feig - ned is, may not I

po - - sing, to drive while me from thy sight, when sleep yields
 while sleep feig - ned is, may not I

8. 1. 2.

more de - light, such harm - less beau - ty gra - cing. And bra - cing.
 steal a kiss, thy qui - et arms em -

more de - light, such harm - less beau - ty gra - cing. And bra - cing.
 steal a kiss, thy qui - et arms em -

more de - light, such harm - less beau - ty gra - cing. And bra - cing.
 steal a kiss, thy qui - et arms em -

more de - light, such harm - less beau - ty gra - cing. And bra - cing.
 steal a kiss, thy qui - et arms em -